The Japanese offensive in the Bengal-Assam railroad area and Lt. Gen. Joseph Stewart's troops have scored notable successes in their offensive against Japanese communications in the area.

At a point in the Mogaung river in Burma, British troops today reported general improvement in the situation at Kohima, where British forces are counter-attacking Japanese troops within 35 miles of the important Bengal-Assam railroad, and told of a Japanese defeat in hand-to-hand fighting northwest of besieged Imphal, 60 miles south of Burma's border.

An infantryman routed Japanese from another village of the Mogaung river in Burma, and Chinese troops captured strong positions south of Imphal. A fighter and bomber force supported the advances.

At Haka Bay, Japan's base on the northeast coast of New Guinea, apparently for the same methodical reduction from the air, although on other important strongholds in the southeast Pacific.

A 210-ton bombing Tuesday dropped 830 tons of explosive on Haka Bay by B-29 Superfortresses and P-51 Mustangs. The attack was added to the reduction of the central Pacific, American planes ranged over Japanese targets from Matsura, Onokotan, Ponape, and Shimoa. In the southern Kurile Islands and Tokkai, Uluul, Oroku and Nukunai, the Carolines, plus the usual hits on by-passed enemy bases in the eastern Marshall Islands.

Japanese Kurile Islands Hit Again
by U. S. Bombers

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEAD-QUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR.April 13—American Army and Navy bombers resumed Monday and Tuesday where they had left off in March—attacks on the Kurile approaches to Japan.Army Liberators ranged within 1,000 miles of Tokyo to hit Ma-tsura and Onokotan Monday and Tuesday. Single Liberators bombed Matsura again the next day.Tuesday night search Centurys ranged from Paramushiro and Shimoa. Air. Chester W. Nimitz, superintendent of the Pacific, released information in his two press releases yesterday but did not specify the Tuesday attacks on all planes returned.The Carolines and Marshalls were other targets.Liberators lashed at Truk Monday. Fires were set and a large explosion touched off in the town of Truk. The Moen airstrip was hit. Truk's eastern guardian, Ponape, was pounded Monday and Tuesday by Mitchells with C-47 fighters going along on the second mission. Airfield runways were cratered Monday.Tuesday, in the face of heavy aircraft fire, the raiders attacked buildings, a storage area, airfields and small craft. That day a single Liberator bombed the island.Ponape also was hit Tuesday by a Ventura search plane and others attacked nearby Uluul and Oroku where a beached ship was the target.Four enemy bases in the Marshalls were bombed and strafed Monday and three given the same treatment Tuesday. Gun positions and airways were hit.Stimson Reports 26,000 Japs Killed in Battle

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 13—More than 26,000 Japanese have been killed in fighting in the southwest central Pacific during recent months, Secretary of War Stimson said today.Stimson, at a press conference, gave this summary of enemy casualties in the Pacific far: Central Pacific—11,000 to 12,000 dead in the last three months.Bataan—5,370 from March 5 to April 8.New Britain—4,679 since the landings there early this year.The Sodor sector of New Guinea—653 up to April 8.

Marshall Islands—2,942.

ARROWS ON THIS MAP indicate the possible courses the Russians will take now that the Red offensive has brought Odessa back into the fold and the Balkan drive is almost certain to follow the Danube valley.

AID TO SERVICEMEN PROPOSED BY BYRNES

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 13—Creation of a system of federal payments to demobilized servicemen and war workers to supplement state unemployment benefits is urged by War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes as a means of easing the transition from war to peace.He told the Academy of Political Science last night "there is bound to be considerable unavoidable unemployment during the adjustment period" and that demobilization must be regarded as a national problem "and its costs as part of the costs for war."Any plan for providing dismissal pay for workers who lose their jobs when war-borne plants close is unsuitable, he said, because "it would bear no exact relation to the needs of the workers and some who might quickly find new jobs would get more than they needed, while others would get much less."Urging that the government begin now to close war plants no longer needed, Byrnes said a recently-completed review of the spare parts programs of the Army and Navy indicates there will be a reduction of $1,000,000,000 for the Army and $402,000,000 for the Navy in the category alone."It will be far better to have plants closed now, when the employees can find other jobs," he said, "than to continue operating and later close the plants when employees may not be able to find jobs."MAJOR BILLS ON CONGRESS' SLATE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 13—Congress opened a drive today to dispose of a group of major bills laid aside during the Easter recess.While a record $32,000,000,000 Navy appropriations bill had the right of way on the house floor, three committees pressed closely behind with measures dealing with lend-lease, extension of the price control program and settlement of terminated war contracts. A fourth started a review of post-war employment prospects.Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.) of the appropriations committee predicted passage of the huge 1944-1945 naval supply bill by nightfall, but the desire of numerous members to pay their respects to the world's largest navy and its accomplishments in an election year might forestall final action until tomorrow.Slated to follow the Navy bill to the floor is legislation to extend the lend-lease program another year beyond June 30, and Chairman Sabath (D-Ill.) called a meeting of the rules committee to determine procedure.While no opposition to the lend-lease program itself has developed, a potent house group is demanding restrictions on its scope.The house banking committee continued hearings on legislation to extend the price control act beyond its current expiration date, next June 30, and called Chester A. Bowles, OPA chief, to give his views. Despite an apparent cooling off in the Republican standing against continuance of the consumer subsidy program, the committee still faces a lively skirmish on the subject.The matter of contract termination, and the method of making settlements with thousands of war contractors continued to occupy the naval committee with indications a bill might be ready next week.Mixup Over Words Sends Firemen on Family Fight Call

By The Associated Press

Somewhere along the line at about 1:30 a. m. today, the word "light" sounded like "fire" and resulted in firemen being called from the East Main street and Central stations.They rushed to a North Greenwood street home and found a family misunderstanding but no fire. Even the sirens failed to quiet the row so a second call was put into the police and that brought results.
Things quieted down after one of the parties involved was arrested and charged with intoxication.Another false alarm had been turned in earlier from the box at Davids and Bennett streets.
Firemen from West Center street station and quad unit from Central answered that alarm at 10:10 p. m. last night.Capt. Bong Takes

U. S. Aces in Air

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, April 13—Capt. Richard I. Bong, Poplar, Wis., has shot down 27 enemy planes in aerial combat to become the highest ranking American ace in this or any other war.Headquarters today announced Bong's 26th and 27th victories were achieved in raids over the Japanese base at Hollandia, New Guinea.Bong's total exceeds the 26 planes credited to Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, World War I ace.
All Bong's victims have been shot down during aerial combat.(Capt. Don Gentile, Piqua, O., flying in the European theater, is credited with 30 enemy planes but the total includes seven destroyed on the ground.)Air commanders in the southwest Pacific do not credit pilots with planes destroyed on the ground.A special headquarters release announcing Bong's achievement said all his 27 victories have been scored while flying Lightning fighter planes over enemy territory.The Wisconsin ace holds 20 Army decorations, topped by the distinguished service cross won last Oct. 23. He also holds the silver star with one oak leaf cluster, the distinguished flying cross with four clusters and the air medal with 11 clusters.Bong was ordered to duty in the southwest Pacific in September, 1942.He returned to active duty early this year after a leave which permitted him to visit his home.Greenville Woman Joins

NOMINATION EARLY

By The Associated Press

SEATTLE, April 13—Nomaination of Gov. Bricker of Ohio for president on an early ballot at the Republican national convention was predicted today by Ralph R.
Knapp of Seattle, former Republican speaker of the state house of representatives.Knapp's forecast came after three days of vigorous campaigning by Bricker in Washington state, climaxed by an address last night in which he demanded the United States government "look out for its own interests because other nations are looking out for theirs."Bricker declared the United States should demand that other nations cooperate with us."It is high time we realized we can win the respect of the world not by the lavish expenditure of our taxpayers' dollars, but only by keeping our promises and by promising only that which we can fulfill," he said.He lashed out at the present national administration, saying it had established "a great propaganda bureau at the cost of $100,000,000 a year to taxpayers"present only the best side of every development in Washington and every development in international affairs.Bricker said he was for postwar cooperation but not "for an international police force which would have the power to order around our Army and our Navy over the combined judgment of the American people."He referred to expenditures of American money in South America, declaring the government

REVIEW OF CHARGES

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, April 13—Defense motions for acquittal forced the prosecution to summarize its case today at a court martial of three Army air force officers charged with neglect of duty and conspiracy in the inspection of aircraft engines at the Wright Aeronautical Corp. plant in Lockland.Col. Park Holland, counsel for Lt. Frank C. Greulich of Detroit, one of the accused, ran down the nine specific charges, point by point, with a contention that evidence so far failed to support them. Maj. Henry C. Clausen, trial judge advocate, thus was drawn into an unexpected middle review of testimony given during the first eight days.Col. Philip J. McCook, law-member, reserved decision on Col.
Holland's motions for dismissal of charges that Colonel Greulich testified falsely to a Truman senate committee, that he intercepted a report on conditions intended for presentation to the committee, and "conveyed the impression"
to the senate group that he had not received this report.Col. McCook denied motions on behalf of Col. Greulich of charges of neglect of duty, failure to inform superior officers, failure to take action and conspiring to "permit production to override inspection," and likewise disposed of similar motions by Maj. Edward Cavanagh for Maj. Walter A. Ryan of Detroit, former district inspection officer and second of the accused, failure to inform superior officers or to take corrective action.Also on trial is Maj. William Brackmann, Cincinnati, former resident inspector at Wright's.RED CAPTURE OF FEODOSIYA
IS REPORTEDCity Is 58 Miles West of Kerch in Crimea; Other Units Advance.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 13—Gen. Andrei I. Veremko's Caucasian army, in a rapid sprint westward along the Black sea coast of the Crimea, has captured Feodosiya, 100 airline miles east of the naval base of Sevastopol, Marshal Joseph Stalin announced in an order of the day.Feodosiya is 58 miles west of Kerch at the eastern tip of the Crimea and 18 miles west of the last reported position of the Red army. It is 62 miles east of Simferopol, administrative center of the peninsula.The broadest-shaped peninsula said Veremko's independent maritime army "broke through the enemy defenses" at Akmanal, where the Germans had constructed a fortified belt across the narrow neck of the Kerch peninsula.At the same time, Moscow dispatches reported, Gen. Feodor I.
Tolbukhin's fourth Ukrainian army was sweeping down from the north and was within sight of the high buildings of Simferopol, 33 miles north of Sevastopol.German broadcasts admitted that Nazi and Romanian troops were busily "disengaging themselves" in the Crimea.On the mainland to the north, other Russian armies yesterday captured both Tiraspol, 53 miles northwest of Odessa, and Fal-ticev, 60 miles south of Cernaul, and 170 miles north of the valuable Polest oil fields, a Russian communique announced.

Draw Noose Tighter

At the same time Red army troops drew tighter the noose around the Skala pocket north of the middle Dniester river, where the remnants of 15 German divisions—possibly 10,000 men—faced annihilation.The twin Russian drive through the Crimea which dispatches said was crumbling axis defense lines in all directions, was aided matterially by the Soviet sea fleet air force, which was blasting enemy evacuation ports and communication lines with devastating results, the bulletin reported. Harbor installations at Feodosiya were bombed, and four landing barges and a torpedo boat sunk, while others were damaged.Constantia, a big Romanian Black sea port and oil shipping center, also was bombed heavily, Moscow said. Constantia is 230 miles across the Black sea from Sevastopol, and presumably would be one of the logical ports of debar-cation for axis troops evacuated from the Crimea.

Advance 42 Miles

In crashing the "second power zone" of the axis defenses in the northern Crimea, Tolbukhin's troops led off with a combination frontal and flank attack on the Ishun sector, Moscow dispatches said. Other columns speeding down from the Sivash actively struck in a southwesterly direction, stormed the fortified town of Volinka and drove down the central and eastern railroad for 42 miles to Karacha-Kangil. The Germans were reported retreating rapidly before them, apparently heading for Sevastopol where perhaps 100,000 German and Romanian troops making up the Crimean garrison may elect to make a final stand. At the end of the day, Tolbukhin's vanguards were within 11 miles of Simfero-pol, with Sevastopol only 35 miles further south, Moscow said.The Soviet war bulletin said that Tolbukhin's troops liberated 150 towns and villages during the day. Approximately 3,000 enemy troops were killed and more than 2,000 captured, the communique added.Cossack Cavalry

MOSCOW, April 13—Kuban Cossack cavalry, light tanks and columns of motorized artillery—vanguards of Gen. Feodor I. Tolbukhin's fourth Ukrainian army racing down through the Crimea—were within sight of the tall buildings of Simferopol, capital of the former Crimean republic, today, and only 35 miles north of the great Black sea naval base of Sevastopol.Tolbukhin's army was striking toward Simferopol from the north and northwest in its drive down the central Crimean railroad from Karacha-Kangil, 11 miles to the north. Yesterday his troops had crashed through crumbling axis forces for a record plunge of 42 miles from Dzhankoi.A correspondent of the Moscow newspaper Pravda attached to Tolbukhin's army reported panic was spreading among the retreating axis troops, especially the Romanians who were said to have been denied motorized transport by the Germans.MacArthur Warns U. S. Against Left Wing Tendencies at HomeGeneral Replies to Congressman's Letter Asking Him To Be in Readiness To Accept G.O.P. Nomination.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 13—Gen. Douglas MacArthur has replied to a congressman's request that he hold himself available for the Republican presidential nomination with an assertion that the United States "must not inadvertently slip into the same condition internally as the one which we fight externally."In an exchange of correspondence with Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb.), the southwest Pacific commander wrote that he did not anticipate in any way the fulfillment of "flattering predictions" the house member had made that MacArthur could win the nomination and, as Miller put it,
"carry every state in the nation."Miller, who said he had not the general only once, is active in the draft-MacArthur campaign which has netted the southwest Pacific commander three convention delegates and has seen him win impressively the Illinois preferential primary against a political unknown.

Writes in February

In a letter dated Feb. 11, Mac-Arthur wrote Miller that he appreciated very much the "beholily letter" the house member had addressed to him Jan. 27, in which Miller said "more than a political revolution" against the centralization of power in the federal government was underway and added:"If this system of left wingers and new dealism is continued another four years, I am certain this monarchy which is being established in America will destroy the rights of the common people."To this, MacArthur replied (text):"I appreciate very much your scholarly letter of Jan. 27. Your descriptions of conditions in the United States is a sobering one indeed and is calculated to arouse the thoughtful consideration of every true patriot."We must not inadvertently slip into the same condition internally as the one which we fight externally, like Abraham Lincoln, I am a firm believer in the people and if given the truth they can be dependent upon to meet any national crises. The point is to bring before them the real facts.""Out here we are doing what we can with what we have. I will be glad, however, when more substantial forces are placed at my disposition."

Question of Supplies

The latter apparently was a reference to a declaration by Miller that the people are convinced the "allocation of war supplies is not above critical examination" and an expression of hope that "some decisions soon will be made more supplies to the Pacific area where they can be used against the Japs."Publication of the letters came at a time when there were reports that some of MacArthur's supporters wanted to slow down his campaign because of the growth of a bandwagon movement toward Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.The demonstrated ability of Gov. Dewey to attract convention delegates while maintaining his public position that he is not a candidate caused some worry among the leaders of campaigns being conducted for Gov. Bricker of Ohio, Lt. Comdr. Harold E.
Stessen and Gen. Douglas Mac-Arthur.Despite the strong showings made by MacArthur in the Illinois preferential primary and Stassen in Nebraska, there are signs of a division of opinion among their backers as to the advisability of continuing the race.Some of those who were instrumental in putting MacArthur's name before the voters, despite the southwest Pacific commander's silence on political matters, are known to have reached the conclusion that Wendell L. Willkie's withdrawal from the contest ended hopes for a deadlocked convention which would afford the best chance for the general's nomination.While those now believe it might be better to swing to Dewey as the leading candidate, there appeared no likelihood that the MacArthur-for-Joe Savage of Chicago headed by Joe Savage of Chicago holds any idea of quitting, particularly in view of the general's popular vote showing in the Illinois primary Tuesday.There are no signs of a cleavage in the Bricker camp but there have been reports that the Ohio governor, who is the only candidate openly campaigning for himself, might be satisfied with his vice presidential nomination.Thus far, Bricker has not pledged or claimed delegates, although he doubtless will get the support of almost all, if not all, of Ohio's 50 delegates to be chosen May 8.As compared with this prospect, Dewey already has annexed 148 pledged and claimed votes, with present signs that he will share heavily when the uninstructed delegations from such states as Kansas, with 19, Iowa with 23, Florida with 15 and others cast their ballots. He picked up two in a Virginia district meeting yesterday.BIG SHIPS FLY

Night Blast at Budapest.
Hungarian Capital.

U. S. heavy bombers landed a double blow at German aircraft production today, striking from Italy at works in Hungary and from Britain at important plants in Germany.The 13th air force, based at Foggia, Italy, hit a Messerschmitt factory near Győr, 70 miles northwest of Budapest, as well as railroad car and machine works. The Toshiba aircraft assembly plant 11 miles southwest of Budapest came under Liberator attack.The Eighth air force, Britain-based, made a "four-bladed attack on aircraft plants at Augsburg and Oberpfaffenhofen, air-force installations at Lechfeld, and a ball bearing works at Schweinfurt," an official announcement said. More than 500 bombers, accompanied by 750 to 1,000 fighter planes, went on this operation, and the announcement added:"The targets, all highly important to the German airforce, had been hit previously and today's blows were designed both to disrupt repairs and inflict new damage."Today's blows at Hungary, followed a raid last night upon that nation's capital, RAF Wellingtons flying from Italy hit Budapest with 4,000-pound blockbust-ers for the first time, in the third raid within a month against rail-yards important to Adolf Hitler's supply on the Russian front.Probably about 500 Fortresses and Liberators participated in today's Italy-based onslaught, which carried into the sixth straight day the current offensive to wipe out the bulk of the German airforce, both in the air and on the ground, before D-day.
The Venice airbase, 10 miles south of Budapest was another of the 13th air force targets, while railroad yards at Byd, Yugoslavia, halfway between Belgrade and Zagreb, bore another action of the attack.As bombs beat down on root-less Europe for the sixth consecutive day, the Russians moved on seven-league boots through the Crimea advancing 46 miles to within 46 miles of Sevastopol, 11 of the capital of Simferopol.
Tiraspol, last major Dniester river crossing, toppled. Other troops swept swiftly through Romania toward the Gulf gap between the Carpathians and the Danube, the capture of which would wrest virtually all the Balkans from Hitler.The prospect of a two-way aerial assault on Germany arose after the Russian radio faded from the air after asserting that Allied planes were over southeast, northern and central Germany. Moreover, Moscow reported the Russian air force was pounding the Romanian port of Constantia through which the enemy might try to evacuate the 100,000 Nazi and Romanian troops from the Crimea. The Russians said they killed or captured 3,000 in that peninsula yesterday.SCHOOLS' ANNUAL

Given Up for Dead, Ohio Marine Turns Up Very Much Alive

(The following story, distributed by The Associated Press, was written by Staff Sgt. Dick Jordan of St. Paul, Minn., a Marine Corps combat correspondent, formerly a Chicago Daily News reporter.)

SOMEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC, (Delayed)—A fellow Marine gave Cpl. Emil Elias of Struthers, O., up for dead. So did the Japs, even though they searched him 11 times during the night after they had thrown a grenade into a charge of dynamite and killed the other two occupants of his foxhole on Engebi Island in the Marshalls. But Elias is alive today. He has been evacuated and is recovering at another base. Fellow members of the 2nd Marines still are amazed at his survival.

Elias was in a foxhole with Privates First Class Robert J. Mekula of North Braddock, Pa., and John R. Gonda of Everett, Pa., the first night of the Marine invasion of that island in Eniwetok atoll. They had some hand grenades and a charge of TNT tied together in a package near them for use against the Japs. About 3:30 in the evening some of the enemy tried to infiltrate. One of them heaved a grenade which set off dynamite and grenades. Gonda was killed in the explosion and Elias and Mekula were wounded severely.

Marine Private First Class Charles J. Battall of Milford, N. J., ran up to help them. He thought Elias was dead and left him, but carried Mekula back for first aid. The latter died soon afterward.

Elias said he was conscious each time the Japs searched him. He could hear them jabbering and said one or more Japs gave him a "killing" over 11 times during the night, apparently looking for weapons and food. The explosion blew him clear of the hole, but he crawled back in and waited almost nine hours.

Private First Class Albert W. Meyers of Chicago and Sergeant Charles E. Sams of Montezuma, Iowa, found him the next morning. They carried him to a first aid station. Elias was administered four units of blood plasma.

When his friends saw him next on the hospital ship, Elias had not lost the ability to grin. When Sgt. David Guido of Altoona, Pa., visited him his greeting was, "you can call me 'mister' from now on, sergeant. I guess I'm just a civilian again."

"There's one boy who really had the will to live," said Guido. "The blood plasma undoubtedly helped a lot. It's a wonderful thing, but he never could have lasted without his courage."

Old Family Friends Hold Reunion Dinner

An unusual two-family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Geiger of southwest of Bloomville recently. After 65 years of continued friendship the Geiger family invited the six children of the late Mr. and Mrs. Paul Heuberger for a dinner. The six, whose ages range from 70 to 78, had not been together in the Geiger home since 1880, when their parents, newly arrived in this country from Germany, kept house for Jacob Geiger. The family later moved to Wharton where they lived until the parents died.

The six brothers and sisters are: Conrad Heuberger of Wharton; Mrs. Lizzie Konkle of Sycamore; Henry Heuberger of Mt. Blanch; Mrs. Minnie Opp of Marion; Lucy Burnett of Forest and Paul Heuberger of Davis street.

Gets Further Word Of Nephew Soldier's Death

Mrs. Francis Smith of 208 Lincoln avenue has received further details concerning the death in action of her nephew, Pvt. Maxton Wayne Waugh of Bladen, O. In a telegram from the War Department, Pvt. Waugh's relatives were notified that he had lost his life at Anzio Beachhead on March 5. In a previous account of his death in The Star on Tuesday, the name of his sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Wright was unintentionally omitted from the list of survivors. Mrs. Wright was formerly of Marion and made her home with Mrs. Smith.

TWO EXECUTED

By The Associated Press
ALGIERS, April 13 — Two Vichy internment camp guards, condemned to death by a military tribunal last month on conviction of murder and brutality in operation of a camp for members of the Foreign Legion, were executed by a firing squad yesterday. The execution of Xavier Santucci and Otto Riepp occurred as another in the series of purge trials opened against native members of an anti-Bolshevik legion.

Largest Naval Bill in U. S. History Submitted to Congress

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 13—The largest naval appropriation bill in American history went to the house floor yesterday to help the world's greatest fleet win the war on the seven seas.

It carried $32,447,134,236 for naval activities during the 12 months starting next July 1, a figure which, if approved by congress, will boost to approximately $350,000,000 the obligations voted for the total war effort since July 1, 1919.

The program which the new funds will help finance contemplates the use of 5,623 self-propelled vessels, 74,925 non-self-propelled vessels, 19,035 naval planes exclusive of thousands of training planes, and 3,657,467 Sailors, Marines and Coast Guardsmen.

"Whatever the cost, we know the Japanese well enough to realize that we cannot regard victory in the Pacific as anything short of complete annihilation of the Japanese empire," the appropriations committee had been told by Admiral Ernest K. King, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet.

"To accomplish that destruction we must deliver the heaviest attacks of which we are capable, as soon and as often as possible, where it will hurt the most."

"This will require every ship, every landing craft, every airplane, and every piece of material—and the trained personnel to man them—that can be made available."

"It is no secret that Tokyo is the ultimate objective of all these operations."

Going to Be Hard

The job of getting there, he added, will not be "easy."

"The distances that are facing us for the future are even greater" than those already traveled, he said. "The difficulties that are facing us are tremendously greater. We still have a very long way to go to win the war in the Pacific."

The casualties that are going to have to be taken into the hospitals are going to increase and probably increase very markedly in the next six months, and they will stay at a high rate."

Despite predictions of many experts that the European war may end this year, Vice Admiral F. J. Horne, second in command to Admiral King, told the committee he expects Germany still will be in the fight when 1944 ends.

While there is the possibility of successful conclusion of the war in Europe this year," he declared, "I do not believe it, but that is what our plans are based on."

James V. Forrestal, Navy undersecretary, told the committee the appropriations were the prelude to major operations both in the Pacific and the Atlantic.

Without elaboration, and after urging that no cuts be made in Navy funds "until the magnitude of this summer," to see "what the next 90 days bring forth." Forrestal added that a major event he had in mind "will, I think, have occurred" by the end of that period.

Whether he meant the coming invasion of western Europe, he did not state for the record.

After hearing Forrestal's "off-the-record" comments, however, the committee made few cuts in the budget requests, the $32,447,134,236 approved being $803,085,164 below the requests submitted. The total includes $27,572,202,936 in new appropriations and $5,074,931,499 in contractual authority.

The two major items in the bill were $8,200,000,000 for naval aviation and $7,800,000,000 for the replacement of naval vessels. These amounts, the committee said, are required for the procurement and operation of 21,230 modern airplanes, 807 combat vessels and 30,151 ships of other categories, "by far the greater percentage of which" the committee was told, are landing craft.

Matt Doorly Versus the Tomato

Matt Doorly's skin broke out in a rash last week. He finally admitted to Doc Hollister he'd eaten twelve tomatoes in a row just the day before.

"Shucks," said Doc. "That's all that's the matter with you. That kind of eating would turn anybody red."

So now Matt has not only cut out all tomatoes for himself. He's forbidden his family to eat tomatoes. And won't even have them in the house. Says tomatoes are anti-social and ought to be prohibited by law.

Artillery

ARTILLERY, in official opinion, now rates top priority in preparations for the assault on German-held Europe. Experience has revealed its prime importance.

Many laymen trying to follow military planning, with reference to weapons, have guessed at various times during the war that artillery eventually would do what it did in World War I—drive land forces underground. That, too, is now official opinion. The war department has released a statement on the Anzio beachhead confirming this observation by Maj. George Atman, an infantry commander: "The Allies have had to dig themselves in the way they did in the first World War, with deep holes and overhead cover."

This war's all trench, for protection from bomb fragments, is the counterpart of the other war's continuous trench. Artillery is bringing back the dugout. The Maginot line and all subsequent and similar defense works were based on the principle of underground security. The bomb shelter, in its various forms, is merely the application to civilian security of the military principle of digging in for protection. While there may never be the stalemate that produced the intricate trench-dugout systems on the western front by 1918, the possibility of trench warfare is stronger now than it has been at any stage of the "war movement" which all wars start out to be. The forthcoming invasion, if it is not to be a vastly larger Anzio beachhead, with the attacking force pinned down by defending guns, have to fall back on the lessons learned in World War I and apparently put into practice by Russia in World War II—that there is no substitute in attack for the cover of massed artillery. The war department apparently aims to assure the public that artillery will not be slighted.

Amen to Adm. Nimitz

IT IS impossible to think offhand of anyone better qualified to talk about the toughness of young Americans than Adm. Nimitz. His comment in a speech in Hawaii that the present crop has as much muscle and maybe a little more brains than their predecessors deserves an amen from just about every corner of the earth.

There are young Americans who are molasses, coddies, but they are not peculiar to this generation. They have appeared in every generation. They are offset by all the young Americans everywhere who have been exploded out of civilian environments into the heavy responsibilities and bitter trials of a fight for survival and are more than holding up their end.

Perhaps, on an average, there are no more of them than there were in any previous trial of national strength. But anyone who agrees to argue that there are fewer had better come to his task armed with statistics to explain away the things they are doing in the air, on the oceans and on the land. That was the mistake the German and Japanese plotters made—to believe that the young men of the United States, when put to the test, would turn out to be molasses, coddies, lacking the wherewithal to sustain themselves against the sword-rattling young men of Germany and Japan.

Voting Interest Index

CHIEF concern of practical politicians in the national election this year is with the change wrought in the electorate by the wholesale shifting of voters out of their home communities. When it is further considered that among those who have "stayed put," as well as among the men and women who have gone into military service or moved to new communities, there are signs of lagging political interest, practical politicians see the possibility of a national election in which past performances will mean little or nothing because of drastically altered circumstances.

As an index of voting interest, registration for the Ohio primary confirms this expectation. When communities which have added population have smaller registrations than they had in 1940, it means that unless a miracle brings the total of qualified voters into balance before next November the national total of votes will be far below that of 1940, when 49,815,312 ballots were cast for presidential candidates. The shortage, moreover, would not be due entirely to subtraction of military voters.

While it seems to be official Democratic credo that the situation would favor the Republican party, if large numbers of voters defaulted next November, the premise that one party has an option on the majority of backsliding and indifferent voters seems dubious. At least, it puts the Democrats in the awkward position of claiming that most voters who aren't interested enough in representative democracy to take the trouble to vote must be, therefore, Democrats.

So They Say—

It is high time that the people of this nation select men for congress on the basis of their character and ability, and not according to the badges of political affiliation they claim to wear. —Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel of Texas.

All they (the Japs) had to do to send a message was just to walk into any cable or radio office and send it. Right up to Dec. 7 cables could have been sent direct to Japan.—FCC chairman James L. Fly.

News Behind the News

Time Believed Near for Invasion; Here Are Some Possible Striking Places.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, April 13 — Spring-leaving of the trees has heightened rumors and comments concerning the promised grand assault on Europe. It should not be called a second front. This is an obsolete misnomer. The Russians furnished more than a year ago. Since then, the Italian second front has been opened, and the third air front over Germany has become important.

While no one outside knows—or should know—the plans for the grand assault, the best unofficial military analysts naturally have made geographical surveys with the following interesting results: The Russian drive into Romania plainly calls for an Anglo-American invasion of Yugoslavia to cut across the Balkans and meet the oncoming Russians. This would isolate Bulgaria, Greece and southern Yugoslavia if it could be launched in sufficient strength to bring success.

Netherlands Drive
Second most strategic point for the grand assault would be a power drive through the Netherlands straight into Germany. An ideal plan would call for simultaneous invasions of northern France around LeHavre (aimed at the Seine at Paris) and invasion of the southern coast of France (Caronne and Rhone valleys).

With such a program the grand assault would be in a position to follow the successful Russian tactics and switch attacks from one front to another, thus straining out the German defense line.

Woman Heads Canada's 'OPA'

Phyllis Turner Handles Responsibilities with a Smile.

PHYLLIS TURNER... Oils wheels of industry

By ADELAIDE KERR
Associated Press Writer

PHYLLIS TURNER has a job matched by no other woman in the western hemisphere.

She is oil and fats administrator of Canada's Prices and Trade Board, which deals with prices, supply and distribution of civilian goods in wartime. It's the counterpart of our OPA with additional responsibilities.

Mrs. Turner has the job of finding out how much vegetable, animal and fish oil Canada has, knowing where it is, and telling the industries using it—which means virtually all of them—just how much they can have. Finally, when business to persuade Canadian housewives to contribute their waste fat to the war effort.

Few Troubles

It's a job which offers the possibility of a lot of volcanic eruptions. But Phyllis Turner seems to run it without them. Report even says that manufacturers have been seen leaving her office smiling. Talk to Mrs. Turner while and you will get an idea why. First she is unaffected. Second she sits and speaks quietly and lets other people finish their sentences. Third, she gives the impression of knowing what she is doing. And finally she is very easy to look at—fresh skin, blue eyes, red-brown hair and smartly tailored clothes.

"We had a problem," she will tell you. "Normally Canada uses about 450,000,000 pounds of fats a year. Before the war 45 per cent of this was imported—and most of the imports came from the Far East. After Japan entered the war we had to fill a substantial part of our fat requirements on this continent."

To augment Canada's reduced supply of oils for wartime needs, the oils and fats administrator reached in a lot of different directions. Under her administration Canada embarked on a program to increase crops of oil-bearing plants. Then it made arrangements to exchange its surplus flax and linseed oil for American edible oils. It established fish-oil refineries in the east to process its own cod-liver oil and enlarged the vitamin oil industry in the west.

Salvage Methods

Besides that Phyllis Turner began to save oils in ways that made a lot of difference to women. She salvaged oil from frying pans, cut down the number of shades of rouge and lipsticks which manufacturers were allowed to produce and limited the colors of paint. The oils she saved were apportioned to the various industries.

Behind Mrs. Turner's flexible handling of her job lies a sound knowledge of economics gleaned from four universities. She was graduated from the University of British Columbia in 1925, took her M.A. at Bryn Mawr on a fellowship, went to the London School of Economics on another fellowship and took more work at the University of Marburg, Germany.

While in London she met and married Leonard Turner, a free lance English writer, and had three children. Then her husband died. And in 1933 Phyllis Turner returned to Canada with her son and daughter, now 14 and 12.

At the end of that year she began to do economic research for the Canadian Tariff Board. When Canada went to war she was transferred to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board and worked her way to her present job.

to the utmost and preventing concentration of enemy effort.

Supply Problem
The great difficulty with such a scheme however, is that these fronts are not contiguous and different routes of supplies and reserves would have to be maintained for each independently. Four separate tremendous accumulations of power would be required. The Nazis are supposed to have 675,000 men in France.

In their current ruminations, nearly all the analysts have abandoned interest in the Norwegian and Danish avenues into Europe. Norway, after capture, would not bring military advantages commensurate with the effort of conquest, and Denmark is farther from the heart of Germany than the Netherlands.

These conclusions, may not at all guide the military high command, which must be concerned with the problem of resources as much as ideal strategy. But they do represent the summation of discussions now current among authorities, particularly in military magazines.

Crowded by Russians

Now, as to the actual condition on the present German fighting front, their defeat on the southern end of the Russian line has been more serious than the maps show. They have no more ground to sell. Also in their latest retreats, they have failed for the first time to gain enough time to prepare their positions.

The Nazis tried to dig in from East to the Black Sea on a fairly good line. But, as this was written, East was half surrounded and in danger of falling. Nothing suggested an ability to hold it, yet less than 200 miles in the rear was the valued Ploesti oil fields.

Threaten Nazi Resources

Similarly northward around Lwow (where they have been holding a little better) their backs were up against that vital rail center, and its subsequent Galician oil field and the shale which the Germans have been crushing for their lubricants. Thus, for the first time also the threat are approaching vital Nazi military resources instead of merely recapturing their own.

The Balkan development seems to call for Turkey to come into the war, but the Turks are afraid of what German bombing might do to their cities, particularly Istanbul. While hopes that they would act at the proper time were once high here, now that the proper time has arrived, few analysts who know the situation, are hopeful.

Challenge To Yankees

Sound Trade Relations Can Secure Peace.

By JAMES D. WHITE

Associated Press Writer

THE YANKEE, known around the world as a trader, soon will face an American problem—what to do about world trade.

Lend-lease has taught millions in other countries how American goods taste, feel and wear. But it will fade with the war, and in each lend-lease agreement is a clause whereby the contracting nations agree to lower tariffs and promote mutual peaceful trade.

Foreign trade in the past has been a sideline for this country. In the future, it may mean the difference between prosperity or poverty for millions of us.

In foreign trade, you run into other countries with different ideas, different economic systems. The Russians, to take an outstanding example, will enter the post-war trade field as one huge government-controlled corporation.

The British, long dependent upon foreign trade, plan to retain what they can of world markets. They lean to the cartel system (mutual agreements on division of business) as the answer for non-socialistic states which would compete with them.

How will the United States, land of the free but also the home of the trust-buster and the protective tariff, fit into such a picture?

The department of state has ideas about these things—a sort of A-B-C of the economic facts of life.

Here they are, as outlined by Harry C. Hawkins, director of the department's new office of economic affairs, which is much concerned with plans for post-war trade:

NO POLITICAL and military structure for maintaining peace can stand for long if nations engage in trade wars. Wars with methods only slightly less unbridled in effect than the current economic tactics used against an enemy in time of war.

These methods are largely the trade barriers which nations set up to protect their own commerce—tariffs, quotas, discriminatory treatment such as deals between nations to the detriment of others.

Such barriers work against peace because all countries have a basic economic problem in common—they must find outlets for surplus goods. When you deprive a neighbor of such an outlet by raising a barrier against his goods, he does the same thing against yours.

If he can't sell, he can't buy—other things being equal. This sort of thing can go on until no country wants to buy from any other. Bitterness develops.

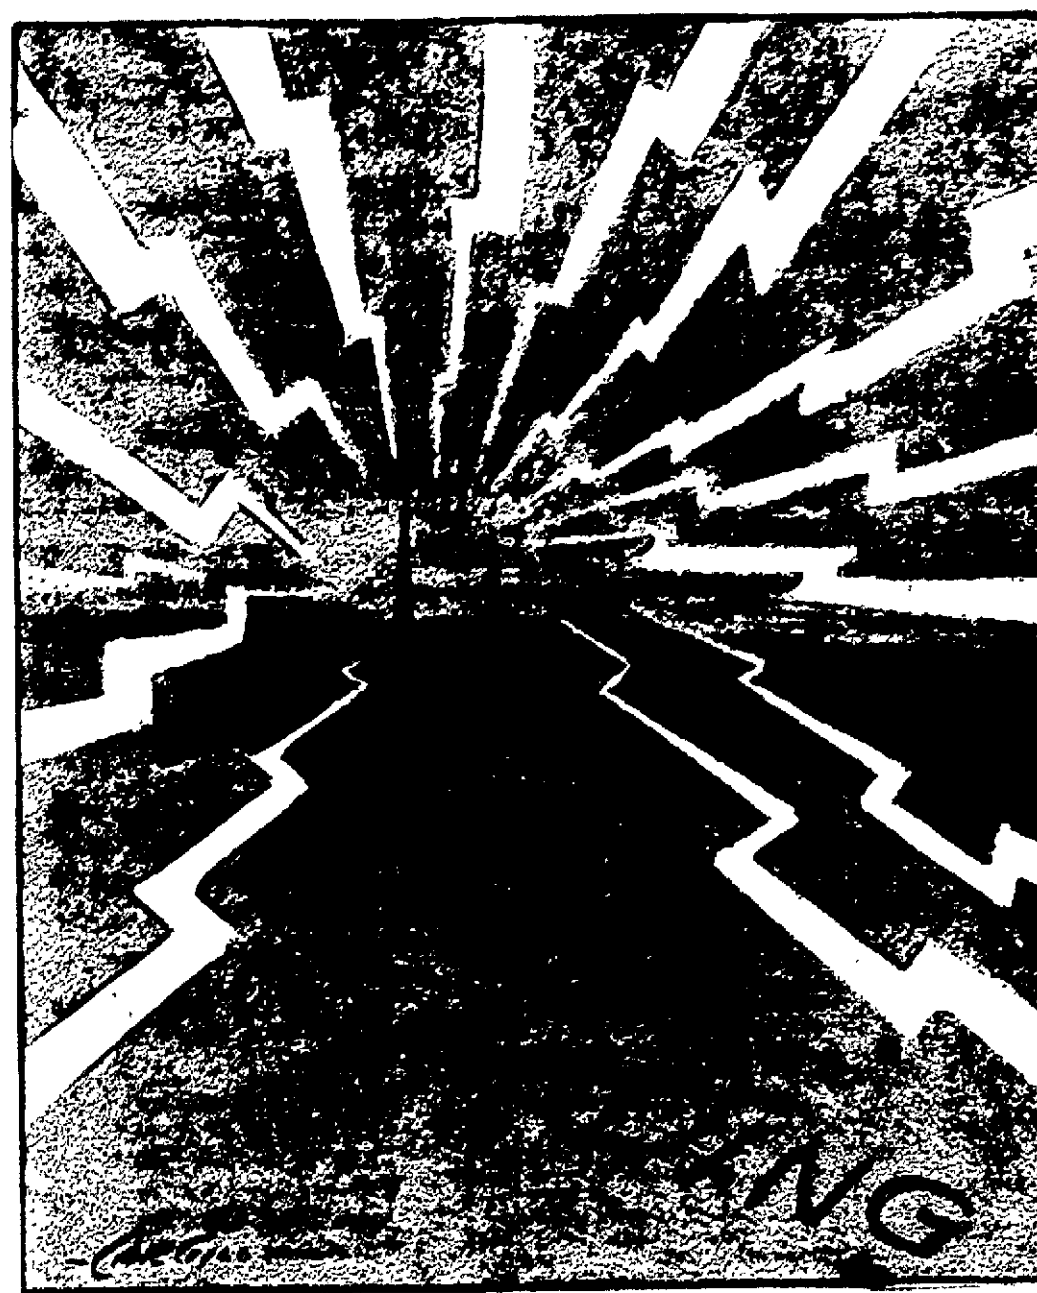

This doesn't necessarily mean war, but it causes unemployment and breadlines, and these are among the conditions for war.

This does not mean there should be free trade immediately. Secretary of State Hull has pointed out that free trade, suddenly brought about, might cause worse chaos through cut-throat competition than what already exists.

It does mean trade cooperation among nations, working together to reduce barriers among themselves sensibly and in as painless a manner as possible.

Such a policy would pay Americans both immediately and in the long run, the state department believes.

It would be insurance against another war. There are those who think this nation couldn't stand another war and remain a democracy.

"MRS. ROOSEVELT said she had never asked the President if he intended to run for fourth term and did not intend to."—News item

The President—Something's on your mind this morning dear, what is it?

Mrs. Roosevelt—Oh, nothing special.

President—You were going to ask me something.

Mrs. Roosevelt—Yes, I thought I might, but I feel rather timid.

President—Well, why don't you ask it?

Mrs. Roosevelt—Well, it's really none of my business.

President—Is it personal?

Mrs. Roosevelt—Yes, in a way, I suppose.

President—Is it something that concerns you?

Mrs. Roosevelt—I suppose some people might say so.

President—Does it affect me?

Mrs. Roosevelt—Yes, but don't press me.

President—Why so hesitant? If it's anything I can answer I'll be glad to.

Mrs. Roosevelt—Don't urge me, Franklin. I just feel there are some things a wife should never ask her husband.

President—You make me so curious. Is it about going some place?

Mrs. Roosevelt—Decidedly.

President—About your going some place?

Mrs. Roosevelt—About your going some place. In fact about both of us going some place.

President—(Incredulously) Together?

Mrs. Roosevelt—Yes.

President (quite amazed)—Oh, come now Eleanor, don't be fantastic!

HE tries hard to imagine what question any body could want to ask him just now. Mr. Roosevelt struggles to keep back the slightest clue.

President (suddenly)—I'll have to have some clue. Is it about the house?

Mrs. Roosevelt—Yes.

President—The White House or Hyde Park?

Mrs. Roosevelt—I won't let you pry it out of me, Franklin, be fair!

President—Is it about the immediate future?

Mrs. Roosevelt—You're getting warm, dear.

President—Has it anything to do with certain high position in the American government?

Mrs. Roosevelt—Yes; you're quite hot now.

President—Has it anything to do with the Presidency?

Mrs. Roosevelt—Yes, but I wish you wouldn't put me in the position of being at all interested in it.

President—Does it involve the figures and 167?

President—I give up!

Mrs. Roosevelt—That's a dear! A secret, a secret!

NEW YORK, April 13—A series of 13 weekly broadcasts, the "Yanks in Orient" series, will be carried by the network on a regular basis, will go on the air at 11:15 Sunday night. Produced in cooperation with the War Department, the program, "Yanks in the Orient," will deal with the experiences of American troops in the China-Burma-India area.

The series is to run 13 weeks. The Blu, since its separation from WBO and later sale, has not been so closely to the former policy of restricting the use of radio for networks relay, and has indicated that in cases where programs were available in no other form they would be accepted. The series follows a similar plan, and NBC and CBS continue to

First Appeal from Traffic Bureau Results in Fine
The first traffic violation case to go into municipal court on an appeal from the new city traffic bureau since the bureau was put into operation was recorded yesterday when a driver of a truck pleaded not guilty to a charge of double parking and asked to see the judge. The parking ticket had been given to him when his truck was found double-parked on North Main street at about 5 p. m. Saturday.

When all the parties involved appeared in court yesterday afternoon, the driver finally admitted that parking long enough to pick up his Easter suit at a Marion store was a little different from unloading merchandise, Judge W. Dexter Hazen fined him $1 and costs.

4 CHILDREN, MOTHER KILLED IN FLAMES

By The Associated Press
FALLS, Pa., April 13—Four children and their mother were burned to death today in a fire that started in the basement of a home in the town of Falls, Pa. The fire broke out at about 10 p.m. and spread rapidly through the three-story house. The mother, Florence McMillan, 34, the mother of two daughters, Sally, 8, and Jane, 8 months, and two sons, Jack, 6, and William, 3. The father was burned on the face, neck, and hands in attempting to rescue his family. His condition was reported fair at Beaver Valley General Hospital. One son, Jacob, 13, escaped unscathed from the holocaust. Firemen said the fire apparently started in the kitchen of the McMillan side of the large double frame house and jumped to the adjoining houses before firemen could arrive. All three dwellings were leveled.

BROWN PRESSES FOR GAS RATION PROBE

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, April 13—Rep. Clarence J. Brown, Republican of Ohio, reported progress today in his efforts to obtain an investigation of gasoline rationing. Chairman Lee, Democrat of California, agreed to discuss informally with members of the house interstate committee today or tomorrow a date for a hearing before a petroleum sub-committee.

Brown, in demanding the investigation, yesterday declared severe rationing of gasoline was interfering with war production. He said top officials of the office of price administration, the office of defense transportation and other war agencies would be called to testify. "Despite an increase in gasoline for civilians," the Ohioan asserted, "the OPA has cut the value of some gas coupons and cancelled others in the middle-west. There have been many complaints."

He added that "poor administration" had left many essential workers without sufficient gasoline to drive to their jobs and had prevented some contractors from running trucks to war plants. Brown said he also had received complaints that farmers were required to agree to comply with agricultural adjustment agency regulations to obtain fuel and some gasoline station operators were prosecuted "unreasonably" even though violations of rationing regulations were caused by mistakes or lack of employees.

AAA officials have declared that farmers are not required to comply with agency regulations to obtain gasoline and the OPA reported recently it had instructed ration boards to grant farmers gasoline without consulting AAA representatives.

Ohio To Import Farm Help from British Jamaica

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, April 12—Approximately 1,000 natives of Jamaica, British crown colony in the West Indies, will be imported to relieve acute labor shortages on Ohio farms, Guy Dowdy, U. S. department of agriculture's agent of agricultural conservation, disclosed today.

Dowdy said his office had requested 1,000 Jamaicans for spring and summer labor on Ohio farms and that 825 already had been allocated to the state.

Four hundred are scheduled to arrive May 15, and an additional 400 by mid-June if Ohio farmers place orders for their employment.

The first contingent will be assigned to Lake county for cultivation of fruit and vegetable crops and grain and tobacco in parts of Darke and Miami counties, north of Dayton.

Dowdy said the first Jamaicans would be housed in barracks of a work camp just outside Painesville. Those allocated to Darke and Miami counties will be quartered in an armory at Covington, O.

In addition to the West Indies labor 5,000 prisoners of war have been requested of the army by the department of agriculture for field work on Ohio farms, Dowdy reported. The war manpower commission also has requested 5,500 prisoners for use in Ohio canals.

Allocations of the 825 Jamaicans: Clark county, 100; Greene, 75; Champlain, 60; Logan, 60; DuFaine, 25; Wood, 75; Paulding, 15; Henry, 15; Stark, 300; Lake, 100; Darke and Miami, 100.

SCHOOL VOCATIONAL CONFERENCE IS SET

Pupils To Meet Adult Advisor April 28.

Freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes of the city schools will be given adult assistance in making their own individual "post-war plans" when the annual vocational conference sponsored by the city schools and a large group of Marion residents is held at the Palace theater April 28.

Some speaker in the field of personnel work or vocational guidance will talk to the entire group at the outset of the conference, followed by approximately 24 group conferences in which Marion adults will discuss their own fields of work with students interested in that particular business or profession.

The cooperating groups include the Altrusa club, Lions club, Rotary club, Kiwanis club, Central Labor Union and Marion Industrial Union council.

Through tests already given in the schools and discussion of vocations, most of the students are already suited for one of the 40 group conferences. An adult group leader has been obtained for any type of vocation in which an interest was shown by a number of pupils.

This will be the third conference of its kind, resumed after a lapse last year because of the war emergency. It was decided to resume the annual conference this year because of general interest and especially in view of the effort being made to encourage students to decide now what vocation they hope to pursue after the war.

Burning of AAA Records Under FBI Investigation

By The Associated Press
GREENVILLE, O., April 13—Burning and mutilation of agricultural adjustment administration records in three Darke county township offices was under investigation today by the federal bureau of investigation.

An agent was sent to the county by the FBI's Washington office after an AAA attorney expressed belief four federal laws were violated last month when records of the agricultural agency were destroyed by opponents.

A number of price administration forms were destroyed in raids last month. Ora L. Fellers, county AAA chairman reported. He said the first incident occurred March 7, shortly after inauguration of a plan whereby county AAA officers ruled on validity of farmers' claims for non-highway gasoline rations.

"Apparently has embarked on a course of buying good will with dollars."

He said the state of Ohio recently was denied a priority by the war production board on materials with which to build a hospital.

"You can imagine the feelings of the people of our state when we learned the government had built 30 hospitals in South America with money provided by American taxpayers. Yes, we are helping other people, but we are helping our own people first."

Bricker left here for Oregon. He will spend Saturday in San Francisco and Monday and Tuesday in Los Angeles. He is due back in Columbus, April 21.

JAPS HAD THEIR DAY ON CORREGIDOR BUT—

Two years ago the gallant defenders of Bataan surrendered to the overwhelming forces of the Japanese on Corregidor. The Allies have come back a long way since that time and even now are threatening the shrinking Jap domain in the Pacific. These pictures, only now released, show the surrender of Corregidor two years ago. The pictures appeared in a Jap propaganda magazine, Freedom, printed in Shanghai. Photo at right shows the surrender, according to the Jap caption accompanying it. At the left, says the Jap caption, is Lieut. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, who took over command of the American forces on Corregidor. The picture shows the Japanese broadcast orders to all U. S. forces in the Philippines to stop fighting. Photos obtained by Newsweek magazine.

AIR RAIDS

southeast England, the home counties and London.

New Nazi Threat

As invasion D-day neared, the Germans pulled out the old chestnut about a secret weapon—this one a projectile containing chemicals which would "freeze" everything within 500 yards and make steel and concrete so brittle as to crumble on touch.

German forces in the Garigliano sector southwest of Cassino have begun to assume a more aggressive spirit, reacting sharply to Allied reconnaissance.

Yesterday there were a number of minor patrol clashes on the Adriatic sector and the Germans made attacks on several houses southwest of Crechcio, but the front generally remained quiet.

Quiet, too, reigned on the Anzio beachhead front below Rome, although there was some artillery duelling.

London newspapers expressed little sympathy today for Italy's King Vittorio Emanuele in his announcement he would turn over his royal powers to his son Umberto when the Allies enter Rome.

"The democratic parties no doubt would have preferred that it should take effect forthwith and not await the recovery of Rome," said the Times. "Their objections to collaboration with the monarch who betrayed his cause so grossly and so long condoned the misrule of Mussolini are intelligible enough."

Gunfire Heard

Residents of the British southern coast were awakened by the sound of gunfire in Dover strait, suggesting a brush between British and German light naval craft.

Effectiveness of the Allied blockade against axis Europe was emphasized by an air ministry announcement at London that more than 1,000,000 tons of enemy shipping have been sunk by mines laid by British planes since the spring of 1940 along the European coast from the Bay of Biscay to the Gulf of Danzig.

Britain and the United States toughened their policy toward neutrals by tightening their Irish blockade with reduced steamship service, protesting against increased Turkish shipments of chrome to Germany and condemning the Spanish seizure of Allied oil stock in Spanish Morocco.

The ministry of war transport at London announced steamship service from Britain to Eire would be cut after April 24.

Emanuele's Move Looks Like End of Italian Monarchy

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

If the seers of ancient Rome were with us to read the flight of the birds of omen, I think we should be told that old King Vittorio Emanuele's promise of retirement may presage the end of monarchy for Italy.

Of course that's not what the aged sovereign has in mind when he says he will turn the rule over to Crown Prince Umberto as soon as Allied troops enter Rome. Emanuele hopes to continue the dynasty through his son, but whatever may be the outcome there's no doubt that the Italian throne is rocking dangerously.

Officially the question of whether the monarchy should continue hasn't arisen, excepting in that it's been agreed the Italian people shall choose their own form of government after the war—providing it's democratic. That there's a trend towards the left in Italy and one of the strong elements is Communism—an interesting circumstance, inasmuch as Mussolini established his dictatorship on the strength of his claim that the country was in dire danger from Communism.

Tactics Conciliatory

The Communists have been aggressive in the campaign, but have adopted conciliatory tactics. Palmiro Togliatti, Communist leader, has campaigned for a united war cabinet.

Italian Premier Badoglio's attitude towards the Communists has been friendly, especially since Moscow's recognition of his interim government. In this connection the London Daily Mail today says that Soviet recognition "undoubtedly strengthened Marshal Badoglio in the difficult task of asking for the king's retirement."

Emanuele's promise to retire has eased a tense situation, since there has been heavy pressure on him to abdicate, especially by the Italian Communists. It's expected that his action will permit of the formation of a new cabinet which will include Communist representation.

Observers note that the king's statement came immediately after a meeting of the Allied advisory commission for Italy, but Allied representatives say the only part their governments had in the development was to assure Emanuele they had no objection to his making this move. However, the Allied representatives themselves expressed approval of the action.

America's Robert Murphy declared it "augurs well for the future" and said he thought it would lead to a more democratic and stable government.

Britain Favors Monarchy

While Britain apparently favors Emanuele's retirement, it's hard to believe she would welcome the abolishment of the monarchy. Her policy has been to support European thrones as calculated to lend strength to the monarchical form of government to which she herself subscribes. However, she is of course wedded to democracy.

As things stand, the present Italian government will continue until the war is over. Then there will be a plebiscite to determine the form of government desired. If the nation returns to normal quickly after peace comes, it may be one of the first to register self-determination.

Thus Italy may give us an early gauge of the political trend on the continent of Europe. It's certain that the Italian Communists will try to carry the day, just as it's certain that Communism will play a big part in numerous other countries, notably in the Balkans, just across the Adriatic from Italy.

Miners Are Indicted Under Anti-Strike Act

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., April 12—Special federal grand jury in the government's third prosecution under the Smoot Anti-Strike Act indicted eight Belmont men on charges of "conspiring to obstruct or coerce a strike of plants or mines in possession of the United States."

The strike, involving 800 men, occurred Dec. 18, 1943 at the Ohio mines of the M. A. H. Coal Co., then in possession of the government. The labor union grew out of the protests of the miners at the mines and being laid off in the middle of the week and required to work on Sunday. The strike lasted Jan. 2, 1944.

The protesting workers at the M. A. H. Coal Co. mine at Pines Fork, O., and the Dun Glen mine at Dun Glen, O., contended that under the contract with the government they were entitled to six consecutive days of work at that time the mine struck. The issue was under negotiation between the United Mine Workers and the government. The case was decided in favor of the workers in January.

HOSPITAL ERRORS CAUSE 4 DEATHS

By The Associated Press
BATTLE CREEK, Mich., April 13—The death of Percy Jones, General Hospital, of a 31-year-old Cleveland veteran of fighting in the outmost Pacific was the result of a lethal dose of drug administered, Brig. Gen. Joseph E. Bastien, hospital commander, said today.
A special board of officers has been named to investigate "to determine the person or persons responsible," Gen. Bastien said.
The victim of what hospital authorities termed an "unfortunate mishap" was Sgt. James P.
Mottershaw. He died March 31
after undergoing an operation.

NEW LONDON, April 13—Administrator Richard F. Hancock of the Lawrence Memorial hospital reported today that an error by an employee of the hospital's pharmacy department had resulted in the deaths of three infants. Seven others were seriously ill, he said, and two more under close observation.

Because of the error, the administrator said, barbiturate powder instead of devase powder was used in preparing a formula for the 20 babies.

Those who died, all the children of Navy men, were the three-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Enders of New London and the four-day-old daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goodwin of Norwich.

Hospital officials said there was no known antidote for the barbiturate.

large the Democrats of Ohio to nominate and elect him.

The Cleveland mayor won the endorsement as he carried his campaign to the home town of Huffman. Lausche received 37 of the committee's votes and Huffman one. The name of Frazier Reams of Toledo, third aspirant for the nomination, was not placed before the committee.

Reams, in opening his Cleveland headquarters, declared in a statement that Lausche's friends were "attempting to ram the mayor of Cleveland down the throats of Ohio Democrats under the false inferences that he is the choice of the White House and the national Democratic committee."

"Mr. Robert Hannegan, chairman of the national Democratic committee, has said emphatically to me no such endorsement of Mayor Lausche exists."

Reams said Lausche himself had made no claim of Washington endorsement but "has stood silently by and permitted this false statement to gain widespread circulation in his behalf."

DONAHEY TO STUMP FOR HIS SON-IN-LAW

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 13.—Vic Donahay, former U. S. senator and three-term governor of Ohio, today announced he was coming out of retirement to campaign actively for the Democratic gubernatorial candidacy of James W. Huffman, his son-in-law.

The announcement came shortly after the Democratic central committee of Franklin county, Huffman's home, endorsed the candidacy of Mayor Frank J.
Lausche of Cleveland.

Donahay will go into Tuscarawas county with Huffman today and campaign in Akron tomorrow, possibly going to Cleveland later.

"I am going to do what I can in my own way for Jim Huffman," Donahay said in a statement, "because I know he is a good man and he will make a good governor. I shall have nothing to say about the other candidates; they are fine men too but I believe Jim Huffman is the man for the job and I am going to back him."

COLUMBUS CAB MEN GO OUT ON STRIKE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 13.—Taxi service in Ohio's capital was at a standstill today as drivers struck in what a spokesman described as a protest against a new city ordinance regulating charges for "double loading" of passengers.

Nearly 200 cabs were affected, leaving workers without their customary transportation to outlying plants engaged in war production. Cab company officials estimated 300 union members in three firms and a number of independent drivers joined the walkout last midnight.

Dana Edge, secretary-treasurer of Taxicab Local 260, Columbus Federal Union of Labor, urged the men to return to work and negotiate their differences. "This strike isn't only against the city," Edge said, "it's against the United States because you haul workers to war plants."

The double loading provision of the protested city ordinance provides that when two passengers take a cab, the first out pays full fare to that point, the second passenger paying only for the distance between his destination and the point where the first pas-

Drivers' spokesmen asserted the provision allowed the second passenger to ride for only a fraction of the amount he would have paid if he had entered the cab alone.

Letters of appreciation were read from seven boys of the church whom the class is sponsoring. Mrs. Claude Geissler reported that Easter gifts and greetings had been sent to the boys. Plans were made to assist in the cleaning of the church Friday.

Mrs. Hedges had on display a number of gifts she had received from her son, Jack, who is stationed in India. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Olive Edwards and Mrs. W. C. Tucker.

The next meeting will be a potluck dinner and the annual birthday party of the class in the church dining room May 9.

LEVY BEFORE VOTERS

building at Pleasant township school. The ballot will be presented to voters of the school district at the primary election May 9.

The levy authorized for financing the cost of the present school building will expire next fall. The new levy, sought for a two-year period, will be only 78-100 mills above the one now in effect. It is expected the new levy will raise approximately $15,000.

The present shop which is a part of the school building has been condemned by the state fire marshal for use in tractor repair, community canning and certain types of farm machine repair. A committee interested in the project met with the county board of education and other county officials Monday night to draft plans for the levy and the building.

The new shop will be a separate brick building large enough to take care of the expanded program. It will house equipment for farm shop work, community canning and home economics demonstrations, for vocational groups and for any other machine work which cannot be carried on safely in the old building.

The present shop will be used for a vocational program for students not interested in vocational agriculture. The agriculture room will be used as a music room and for school programs.

LARUE FARM MACHINERY
CENTER TO BE CONTINUEDShop To Be Operated Through Summer Months.

The farm machinery repair center located at LaRue which has provided the means for repairing farm machinery since Jan. 3 will be continued throughout the summer, meeting every Monday night. The shop will be open for farmers to make needed repairs during the day. Thirty-five farmers of the community are enrolled in the course with Burdette Hunter, agriculture instructor in charge and Erv Hester working as mechanic.

The course is financed by the federal government and is sponsored by the vocational department of the LaRue High school.

The following machines and tools were repaired: 4 tractor plows, 3 disc harrows, 4 grain drills, 2 corn planters, 3 tractors, 2 corn shellers, 4 grain drills, mower, farm trailer, manure spreader, 3 farm trucks, hay baler, log chain, crosscut saw blade, coal fork, 3 pump jacks, 3 vises, 2 corn shellers, 2 saw pulleys, 5 hog troughs, 3 hammer mill pipes, potato sprayer, sprinkling can, a corn cultivator, 4 cold chisels.

The following devices were constructed: 2 rubber tired wagons, a saw mill truck, farm sled, 3 sets tractor lights, 2 sets gale hangers, 2 mower hitches, a wagon hitch, combine and toing chain.

Schools Vote To Keep N. C. O. Loop Operating; Split Averted

The North Central Ohio athletic conference has pulled through probably the most serious crisis since its origin a quarter of a century back, apparently none the worse for wear and ready for its usually active football and basketball season next year.

The league was given a heartening vote of confidence at Gallon Senior High school yesterday afternoon, when representatives of the six member schools met to decide whether the circuit would function next season.

Representatives of the six schools voted unanimously in favor of continuing the conference next year, in both football and basketball.

That means that Bucyrus and Shelby, the two schools formerly the strongest advocates of breaking up the N. C. O., cast their ballots in the affirmative. Gallon and Mt. Vernon, both of which were non-committal on the "break-up" subject before yesterday's meeting, didn't take much prodding to vote to continue the league.

According to Marion Harding, officials, the meeting lasted only about an hour and there wasn't much discussion about the proposed disband of the conference. It was formerly thought that officials of Ashland and Marion schools, the N. C. O.'s two largest in enrollment, would have to make several concessions before Bucyrus and Shelby could be persuaded to change their attitude.

The schools also agreed that any N. C. O. member that plans to withdraw from the league would do so before Wednesday, April 26, exactly two weeks after yesterday's get-together.

The withdrawal of any school by that time would have no effect on the continuance of the league. It would keep on operating regardless of what school or schools dropped out.

If two or three of the schools called it quits, the remaining N. C. O. members probably would invite other cities to join the circuit as replacements.

One of the big factors in Bucyrus and Shelby voting to continue the league was the matter of schedules and officials. All N. C. O. schools have drawn up football and basketball schedules for next year and in some instances, for succeeding campaigns. Practically all the schools have secured officials for games next season.

To break up the league at such a time would mean a needless expense of time, money and labor on the part of all schools. So Bucyrus and Shelby voted to continue the league.

The pitching is the big question mark with Cliff Melton figuring to be the No. 1 arm although Bill Volsella, who won 10 and lost 21 for Jersey City, has been showing enough spring stuff to be considered an opening day possibility.

Reuben Fischer underwent a delicate spinal operation during the winter, but reports he's ready to go. If he can take a regular turn he will give Ott's staff a big boost.

Ace Adams may be pressed into starting service after his brilliant relief work in 70 games last year and Johnny Allen, late in reporting, can be spotted with sufficient rest. Ewald Pyle, 30-year-old southpaw who failed at St. Louis and Washington in the American league, is fighting for a spot along with Frank Seward, 10-game winner at Springfield, Mass.

Ken Brondell and Walter Decker, army discharges, and Ken Miller, a free agent, complete the staff. Lou Poffa has been promoted from Jersey City.

Paul E. Brown Reports to Great Lakes Monday

COLUMBUS, O., April 13—Paul E. Brown, Ohio State university's head football coach, has been commissioned a lieutenant (jg) in the navy and ordered to report to Great Lakes next Monday, he disclosed today.

Brown was sworn in at the navy recruiting office here yesterday. He is 35 years old, married, and has three sons.

Choice of a successor to him at Ohio State remains with Brown, who will be "coach in absentia." He is expected to announce shortly who of his staff will carry on during his absence.

Brown said he was not aware what his duties in the navy would be. Lt. Paul "Tony" Hinkle recently was transferred from football and basketball coach to athletic director at Great Lakes, leaving the bluejacket varsity without a mentor.

HARDING PREPARES FOR SPRING TRACK; PETRICH TO COACH

Hope To Get Practice Sessions Under Way by First of Next Week.

Track, which was not on the Marion Harding spring sports program last year because of the war, will return to the local athletic front this spring. It was announced today by A. C. May, Harding principal.

No practices of Harding track candidates have as yet been held because of the unsuitable condition of the quarter-mile Harding stadium track, made muddy by steady April showers. It is hoped that the squad can get its first work out by the end of the week.

Track Coach will be Joe Petrlich, this week appointed head of the school's football team, succeeding Vic Dorris. Petrlich helped George Niemi, now in the Navy, with the President cinder-shoofers two years ago when he was at Thomas Edison Junior High.

Track replaces baseball as the principal Harding spring sport. Baseball was dropped this year when Coach Dorris left for the Army. Probably the main purpose in forming a track team this year is to keep sophomore and junior footballers and cinders in shape during the off-season.

Griffith Smells Pennant NOTES FROM THE CLUBHOUSE

WITH AP SPORTS WRITERS

Clark Griffith has seen so many knucklers lately that he is able to show Chip Royal just how it's done.

By CHIP ROYAL
AP Features Sports Editor

WASHINGTON—Gather 'round Amigos and prepare to cheer the Senators. Clark Griffith's pennant smellier is working overtime again.

Twice before the "Old Fox" has sniffed an American League championship, first in 1924, and the last time in 1933. The 1924 whiff was so strong that it carried over in '25 as well.

This time, Griffith says he "started to smell a pennant last June 15." Before he could do anything about it, the Yankees forged ahead and walloped everything in sight including the National League's champion Cardinals.

"If I could have bought Harland Clift and John Niggeling then, we could have beaten the Yankees, and the Cardinals, too," says the determined white-haired boss of the Washington team.

Griffith's mass of white eyebrows widened and there was a trace of a smile on his lips as he declared:

"This year, it will be different. You can tell the Yankees, and all of them, that we are not going to wait until June. We've got the players we need now. If we can keep them, we'll give them all a race for their money."

That, boys and girls, also seems to be the general opinion among other American League clubs. Wherever players or managers congregate they talk of this Washington team and its knuckleball pitchers.

Boy, does that tickle the 74-year-old "Fox!"

"So they're sitting up nights worrying about us already," twinkle in his eyes.

"That's good. But, what they don't know is that we have not four, but six knuckleballers ready for them—Dutch Leonard, Roger Wolf, Niggeling, Mickey Haefner, Alex Carrasquel and Gil Torres."

"You know, I've always liked a pitcher with a little something extra on the ball. I had the first splitter. And, when some fellow comes along and develops another colorful and hard-to-hit pitch, I'll have him."

It's hard to tell whether Griffith is more tickled with his knuckleballers or the way his Cubans are improving in the diamond game. He talks first about one, then the other.

"Do you know that many of our best ball players in the future are going to come from Cuba? I've never seen anything like the interest in baseball down there. There's more baseball played per capita than in any other nation in the world."

"You hear a lot about the Cuban players being small. The first ones I had back in 1910 were little. Now, they're growing them higher. Look at Ortiz. He's six foot two. There's a boy who's going to help us a lot this year. He's improved tremendously and can really hit the ball now."

"I like the Cubans so well I keep Joe Cambria down there all the time and some day I expect to have a school for them in Havana. The players don't come any better anywhere as fielders and, if we can show them a few pointers about hitting, they'll be tough to beat."

"What I particularly like about Cuban ball players is their spirit. They make a business out of baseball. And you don't have to worry about their habits. Even though they raise most of our cigar tobacco and rum, they don't smoke or drink."

"They're all fine men and players."

ARMY TAKES MONTGOMERY
By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, April 13—It looks as if the war might disrupt the feud between Beau Jack, the Augusta, Ga., ex-footblack, and Bob Montgomery of Philadelphia, the NY-NY-Pa. lightweight king.

They have met three times in Madison Square Garden—each time with the title at stake, and each time the champion lost. The army accepted Montgomery yesterday at Philadelphia, and at the same time Beau Jack's Augusta draft board ordered him to take his physical exam April 17.

Al Smith To Make First Appearance on Mound Today

By The Associated Press

RICHMOND, Ind., April 13—Al Smith, the Cleveland Indians leading mound artist last year and Manager Lou Boudreau's choice to open the season against the White Sox at Cincinzo April 18, makes his first appearance in an exhibition tilt as the Tribe engages the Cincinnati Reds here today.

Mel Harder, dean of the Red-skin twirling corps, shares the rubber chore with Smith.

The Pittsburgh Buccs beat Cleveland by a 6 to 3 margin yesterday. The Indians again owned the opposition but left 13 men stranded on the base paths in addition to one who was picked off, and two others who were eliminated in double plays.

Ken Keltner's departure for Milwaukee for a pre-induction selective service examination left Jimmy Grant, obtained from the White Sox last year, the heir-apparent to the third base job.

If Keltner does G. I. clothes, the Indians will be without a spare infielder, for the front office has speeded up its search for a utility man.

The catching situation was eased today after Commissioner K. M. Landis approved the transfer of Coach George Sussie to the active list. Unless Buddy Rosar decides to abandon his Buffalo war plant job, Sussie will be the number one receiver.

SNATCHES OF SPORTS

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
NEW YORK, April 13—Although there's nothing in the wording of the new draft ruling regarding men over 26 that even hints at the status of baseball players, some baseball men who have their ears tuned to Washington wavelengths insist it means their athletes won't be called.

"The army doesn't want 'em and they won't try to force ball players into war jobs," said one. "It's like the limited service men. They told us down there, there's only one place for those fellows and that's right on your ball clubs."

An Oklahoman who figures anonymously is the better part of that right on the report that medical discharges in the army these days are accompanied by Tulsa U. football posters. But if Coach Henry Frka really has the army docs organized that much, it probably was to keep the Giants from signing 'em all as baseball players.

One-Minute Sports Pace
Jimmy Johnston has accepted an offer for his retrained heavyweight, Tony Shucco, to fight Turkey Thompson in Hollywood, Calif., late in May, but in making the bid promoter Joe Lynch insisted that Jimmy must accompany Shucco or the fight was off. Who's the attraction, a Tiger's catcher, war sports or the Waxahatchie, Tex., "Light" last winter? Big Bill Freeborn, owner of the Los Angeles Tigers, is trying to organize an eight-club pro football league on the west coast to start operation next fall.

The world's first commercial telephone exchange was opened at New Haven, Conn., in 1878.

London's famous No. 10 Downing St. was first occupied by a prime minister in 1704.

Most Issues, However, Are Unable To Strike Recovery Pace.
NEW YORK, April 13.—A few stocks sat up and took a little recovery nourishment today but market leaders generally were far from attaining real convalescence.
The reaction was for the time being relatively slow, irregularly lower trends prevailed. Declines were mostly in fractions. As in previous lackluster sessions, the main reason given for speculative and investment timidity was the belief "D-day" was approaching in Europe. Some encouragement was taken from the fact no urgent liquidation appeared. This revived the optimistic comment that "stocks are in good hands."

Concert at Galion To Aid Red Cross

Concert at Galion To Aid Red Cross
Special to The Star
GALION, April 13.—For the benefit of the Red Cross, Miss Bessie Todd is managing a Sunday afternoon concert this week at 3 o'clock at Galion Senior High school auditorium.
For years, Miss Todd has presented a series of concerts each season, but this year she had none until now because of the gasoline rationing program. The program this Sunday will be the first this season and will feature 10 of Miss Todd's piano pupils from Galion, Crestline and Bucyrus, with an assisting guest artist, Miss Joy Herbert of Mansfield, talented harpist.
A free will offering at the door will go to the Red Cross, Miss Todd said today.
Piano pupils to appear on the program are: Peris Townsend, Shirley Kurland, Richard Dursch, Today Rehl, John Monroe and Joyce Wittschlager of Galion; Mrs. Harriet Murphy, Betty Smith and Arlene Kinkadee of Crestline; and Norma Jean Kroulter of Bucyrus.
Wednesday marked the monthly meeting of the Alpha Bible class at First Lutheran church. During the business session for which Mrs. Peris Todd presided, the class voted a large donation to the Lutheran World Action fund. Mrs. J. H. Pickett was the devotional leader and Rev. Harry R. Meile offered prayer.
The Willing Workers' society of St. Joseph's parish met in the parish hall, Wednesday. Mrs. Alvin Fabian presided.

ALL PITS REPORT GRAIN PRICE LOSSES
By The Associated Press
CHICAGO, April 13.—Marked weakness developed in grain pits and losses extending to more than a cent were recorded in all pits. Selling came from both commission houses and local traders and some stop-loss orders were uncovered. Trading was moderately active on the decline.
There was a variety of items to discourage bulls. The war production board was reported studying a plan for impeding Argentine corn, favorable crop weather prevailed throughout the grain belt, vessels were reported ready to clear from Port William, Canada, for the United States with grain and there were unconfirmed reports Romania may soon drop out of the war.

See Willkie Withdrawal As Boon To Gov. Bricker
By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, April 11.—Rep. Thomas A. Jenkins, Republican of Ironton, O., expressed belief yesterday the withdrawal of Wendell Willkie from the presidential race would help the candidacy of Gov. Bricker of Ohio.
Jenkins said in a statement he believed the boost to the Bricker candidacy would come because "he now is the only outright, active candidate who presents his views freely and positively."
"He knows how to do things and he keeps his promises," Jenkins added.
Before the outbreak of war, the value of American investments in Germany was estimated at one and a half billion dollars.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

I STOOD still, trying to fathom the thought in Hugh Grantland's mind.

"I wanted to hear the report of the Tiger men on their journey," I said, "and to be sure Mrs. Tiger had given Charlie Kent his message correctly." I said, hesitatingly, "But—"

"But of course you must go. Only, I dare not take a single chance with this thing. Do you mind if I transfer Lee Chow to that underground chamber, and remove all traces from your father's suite before you go?"

Appalled

"Of course I don't mind. Go on down and get Lee Chow ready for the transfer. Gather up every scrap of clothing that doesn't belong to my father. And be sure to take the bed linen from the beds, and remove every trace of bedclothes, and anything else which would betray anybody's presence in that supposedly empty suite. I'll be right back."

I did not stop to explain what I meant to do, but I went and ran back to the chimney again. I touched the hidden door, opened the door and ran down the steps, the stone and iron door, and then to the room I had left. There I wiped the shelves of the refrigerator, connected its cord, and closed the door. But even before that I had switched on both electric heaters and knew that there would be sufficient warmth. Then I turned one of the bunks, and brought pillows and blankets to one of the big chairs, spreading the blankets over the chair, so that they would be warm and dry.

Leaving an electric light on, and closing the door behind me, I dashed up the winding stairs again. But even in my haste I did not leave the stone door open, as I had intended to do. I closed it carefully, and went down the stairs to the second floor, and then on to my father's suite.

Worked Fast

Hugh evidently had been waiting as fast as I had. Not only was the bed linen removed from both bed and studio couch, but both had been restored to the exact pattern, which had changed them. The linen and one or two articles of clothing not belonging to my father were deposited on one of the chairs, and was also a newspaper package. Hugh indicated it with a smile.

"Contents of the wastebasket," he said, "will you kindly give the rooms the once over?"

I looked carefully at every corner, and every article. The room contained, opened the closet door, and inspected the clothing. Then I faced my old friends, for Lee Chow was sitting in an easy chair, evidently ready for transfer.

Traces Removed

"Perfect!" I pronounced. "There isn't a trace of your presence. I'll just lock the door behind me, and then you go. Will you please help Lee Chow up the bundle of bed linen and clothing, and sent on upstairs. Please don't delay things!" In Hugh's direction when he sounded a protest. Then I went out of the door, waited until they also had crossed the threshold, and then hurried back, then as Hugh guided Lee Chow's faltering footsteps toward the stairs.

"I'll have everything ready by the time you get there," I called back.

I left the stone door open for the first time in its history and hurrying down the steps, had Lee Chow's bed made up for him by the time the two men came through the door of the secret chamber. Hugh evidently had prepared the chamber for the room, but his reaction was like that of a wondering and delighted boy.

"This is wonderful!" he said. "But I had no time to listen to my glaudits. Hugh's tenseness had communicated itself to me, and I was wild to get all preparations made for a possible emergency.

The Code Knock

"Here is the key," I said, "and this door don't open until you hear this knock. Three short knocks three times, repeated. It is once the boys devised."

I gave the knocks upon the door and then skinned out of the door, throwing a parting word over my shoulder.

"I'll be back as soon as I can," I said. Then I went up the winding stairs, set the stone in place, and went down to the second floor, meeting my mother-in-law in the hall.

"Where is Father?" she asked. "Down with Katie," I answered. "Come in here, please, just a second."

She followed me into her room, and I told her as briefly as possible about Hugh's fears, and where I had hidden Hugh and Lee Chow.

"Father's suite is exactly as it was," I said, "if anybody should happen to come with a search warrant while I am gone to the Tiger men, I can let them search everywhere, saying some morning of your sons came this morning, and went away again, and that you did not see them because you have been ill. But don't let anybody in unless he has a search warrant."

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Recipe for Health

"There are three good doctors who have not gone to war," observes my comforting old friend, Dr. Adrian Cribbs. "They were named by that ancient worthy, Dr. John Harrington, in his book 'The Englishman's Doctor' as long ago as 1600 and they still practice successfully."

"Use three physicians still: first Dr. Quiet, then Dr. Merryman and lastly Dr. Diet."

There is a great deal of sound common sense in that. Going to bed is Dr. Quiet's prescription and there is nothing known to me in the realm of pathology which would not be benefited by going to bed. Another old friend of mine and one of the great newspaper women of our generation, Laura Nelson, said to me once—"I verily believe that if everyone would spend their entire life in bed, no one would ever die." She was never, it is true, one of your stentorian women, all covered with flock and foam, slapping her chest against her throat and delighting in taking a drink over an eight-foot fence, so her remark may have been a personal equation. But nobody so far as I know has ever disproved it.

Certain it is that going to bed is what the doctor will order if you can get him, as at least part of the cure for nearly any acute malady even in these days of magic sulfa drugs and magic molds and magic chlorophylls and magic vitamins.

Dr. Merryman should be cultivated. I happened to write, a week or so ago, on the subject of gas—gas in the belly—gas on the stomach—and I mentioned the sense of comfort and happiness that results from a good belch. But there are some who could derive help from Dr. Merryman; for these the burp they do not like it. It seems fraught with sinister implications—fermentations of the food, unnatural chemistry of the fundamental. Hummel's saying that "there is nothing good or bad but thinking makes it so."

cannot be taken literally in its entirety but certainly thinking makes things better or worse. Think of the two persons—one, Dr. Merryman's patient who is overjoyed with relief at his belch, and the other who, with exactly the same symptom, is cast into the despair and the gloom.

As for Dr. Diet, why he is half of all our advice. If you are in health and would keep in health, take a glass of milk, an egg, some bread and butter, a vegetable, and a fruit every day as basic requirements and let your taste dictate the rest—meat, potatoes, salad, fish, pie, ice cream, coffee or tea—not too much if you weigh 120, a little more than you want if you are under 115, and as your taste and fancy dictates if you weigh 150. No matter what your height.

For the invalids' diet it should be nourishing and should have salt and fluid and protein. And during convalescence something solid. I subscribe to the blast of Dr. Martin Fischer, about the "popular conception of a strengthening diet is a chicken wrung out of hot water."

Of course we need doctors and this is no invitation to limitless self treatment. Babies and children need doctors on nearly any provocation and in a hurry. Adults can usually be more leisurely about it. The adult's ailments are mostly chronic and no emergency exists as to chronic ailments. About the only emergency medical attention in adults, pneumonia and appendicitis. You will know those because one is heat in the chest and the other is heat in the abdomen. And, of course, accidents—burns, fractures, dislocations—are emergencies.

The United States Public Health Service is allowed by law to pay a doctor's or dentist's moving expenses into a new community, plus an allowance of $250.00 a month for the first three months of residence. He in turn must agree to practice a year in his new location. To get him there the community must file a formal application OK'd by its own State Health Department, then agree to repay one-quarter of the money to the Health Service.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
R. C.—Please discuss dandruff—its cause and cure.
Answer: Dandruff is sebaceous dermatitis of the scalp. It probably is due to an infection by a fungus or, less often, a staphylococcus. The infection can often be traced to a visit to a hair dressing establishment for a permanent wave, etc. In treatment the following lotion has been found effective: Resorcinol—20 parts, tincture cantharides—20 parts, oil of bergamot—20 parts, glycerin—2 parts, alcohol—120 parts, rose water sufficient to make 1,000 parts.

GOVERNOR EARNS VOTE
TOPEKA, Kas.—A woman, having trouble getting her parked car away from a curb, where the wheels were jammed, called the first man who came by. "Are you a good back-supper?" she asked. He obligingly got the car from the curb and then walked down to the state house. He was the Kansas governor, Andrew Schoepel.
